DOUGLAS' JERSEYS WIN AT WATERLOO

Aged Bull Third and Senior
Calf Fourth in Strong
Jersey Show.

In the strongest Jersey show in the history of the Dairy Congress, on this week at Waterloo, Ia., the two entries from Rock county stood the test in two classes. The Jerseys were Aged Bull Third and Senior Calf Fourth in Strong Jersey Show.

There are 175 Jerseys, 153 Holsteins, 109 Brown Swiss and Ayrshires, and 77 Guernseys entered.

Douglas' Rock Majesty, the aged Jersey bull of W. C. Douglas and Son, Holstein, a consistent winner in Wisconsin, placed third. The previously undefeated grand champion of the Meredith Farms, Des Moines, Ia., was second. Tormentors, June Prince, owned by Edward Tasater of Texas, won the class and was senior and grand champion. Rock bull calf from the same farm placed fourth in a class of 22, the biggest Jersey class in the history of the breed.

N. C. Schmid, Green county Brown Swiss breeder, bumped into real competition on his Brown Swiss. Veronika's College Boy, a large bull, also entered, was beaten for the championship by the two year old from the Jubilee Farms, Peoria, Ill., on Jubilee Medor. A Rock County Brown Swiss, Bernice's Master of Riverview, placed first in the bull calf under a year class. Schmid won junior championship honors for females on Marvel the Second. Hull Brothers took the junior bull and grand champion cow ribbon.

The Guernseys were in the ring Thursday and the Holstein classes were to be started during the afternoon. Bob Haeger, Illinois, was judged as the Jansenville calf made the most improvement. Holstein association "look doing well, and a ribbon in this show is a real honor," telegraphed T. C. Nisbet, manager of the Rock county exhibit.

HONOR KING CHEESE IN MONROE TODAY

King Cheese will ascend to the Green county next Tuesday, Oct. 2, and hold sway at the capital in Monroe. Prosperous Green county will stop making cheese long enough to pay homage to the product that put cash in the banks and honor to the county!

Monroe is all "hot-din" over the queen contest, as the most popular queen will preside over the throne as Cheese day queen.

A banquet will be served in the pavilion Monday night, the finest county stock arena in the state. The cheese day program Tuesday will be followed Wednesday by a Holstein sale.

COUNTESS TO BE EXECUTED BY RUSSIANS

Petrograd—The Polish countess, Cecilia Pototska, born Koschubko, and believed to be a descendant of the American Revolutionary hero, has been sentenced to death for espionage on behalf of the Polish communists to the Warsaw government.

125 PERISH IN PERSIA

Tehran, Persia—One hundred and twenty-five persons were killed in an earthquake at Khorasan on Tuesday, according to a dispatch received here.

BADGER STUDENTS FLOCK TO FIELD

Madison—If student-support has any effect on the scoring ability of football teams, the University of Wisconsin is destined to tally up some high figures on its score sheet this season.

Crowds turning out to follow the practice of the varsity football squad are so large that they cause the managers difficulty to keep them away from the field. Several thousand followed the Badger team home last night, each night this week intently watching the progress of the players in whom they place their hope for a winning team.

Comment generally among the onlookers is that Wisconsin is going to have a surprising number of points this year, despite the loss of eight regulars from the 1922 team. Coach Ryan has the apparently undivided confidence of both students and players.

With the start of scrimmages even larger turn-outs than those of the early week are looked for.

DAUGHTER SOUGHT BY MERRILL MAN

Merrill—Members of the Masonic Lodge at Merrill have been appealed to by Mr. Merritt, 38 North State street, Chicago, to assist him in finding his daughter, who has just passed her 24th birthday. Mary Mahoney was given to a family by the name of James Graham in Milwaukee, in 1905. The Grants have died but the whereabouts of the daughter is unknown.

FRAME NAMED TO WAUKESHA COURT

Madison—Harvey J. Frame, Waukesha, was named today by Governor Blaine to be judge of the municipal court in Waukesha. He will be the first in the western district of the county, left vacant by the death of Judge James E. Thomas.

HEAVY FREIGHT LOADING.
Washington—During the week ending Sept. 15, American railroads loaded 1,065,554 cars of heavy freight, according to the car service division of the American Railway association. The total was 123,359 cars more than for the same period a year ago.

EXCHANGE IS RESUMED.
Washington—Postal exchange between the United States and Bulgaria, interrupted during the World War, will be resumed Oct. 1, under a convention recently concluded between the two governments. The postoffice department announcement today said many orders to Bulgaria would be limited to 25s.

One meeting for the purpose of making a complete check-up of the returns secured up to that time.

Up to 70 years ago there was not much improvement in the method of preparing honey for eating. Those who did not care for the wax in comb honey melted the chunks and skimmed off the wax as it came to the top. Some melted through cheesecloth or screen wire. Honey, many primitive beekeepers still prepare their honey for the market in this manner. Such honey may be excellent in quality if it has not been overheated in the process. Heating honey above 160 degrees, at the least, will damage the flavor, and also damage its color. Skinned honey can be distinguished from the best grades of extracted honey by a cloudiness or murkiness in the finished product that cannot be gotten rid of.

The modern, up-to-date beekeeper of the highest type neither kills his bees nor "robs" them to get the honey. Instead, he has "supers" or boxes which are above the regular beehive, and the honey in the supers after they have gathered plenty for themselves and stored for their use in the hive below. Sometimes there isn't any surplus for the beekeeper.

In my next talk I'll tell you what the beekeeper does with his share of the honey before it is offered to you to eat.

HONEY TALKS

(No. 2.)
The ancients "robbed" their bees and took the "honeycomb" in chunks (none too good) the way they handled it, and melted the honey, wax and all, into a sticky mass. And in this way it was eaten.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette:
Let the big fish eat the little ones seems to be Jensen and Gibbons' idea, but one curbside gasoline dealer has a different idea. Mr. Jensen says that he has been getting a lot of money. "Has he gone through our books?" How does he know? Just because in all probability he did not sell much gas on Park street he need not think that some of us little fish have not as good, if not better, bushels. No, he has not been getting a lot of money. Has he gone through our books?" How does he know? Editor Gazette:
The plight of wheat growers worries Delegation from Minneapolis Federal Reserve Sees President.

By Associated Press.

Washington—The plight of the wheat growers of the northwest, to which President Coolidge has been devoting "considerable" attention, came before the executive again today when a delegation of bankers, farmers and congressional leaders called at the White House to urge revival of the War time United States Grain corporation minus its power to fix prices.

President Is Listening.

The president, after Thursday's cabinet meeting at which the price situation was discussed at great length, indicated to visitors that he was maintaining an open mind pending today's conference with those intimately acquainted with conditions in the larger wheat growing states of the northwest. The executive's conference with today's conference was his invitation to secretaries Wallace and Hoover and Managing Director Meyer of the war finance corporation, to participate in the discussions.

Government Can Do Little.

President Coolidge was urged yesterday by Frank W. Mondell, director of the War Finance corporation, that a two months survey of agricultural conditions in the northwestern states has brought the conviction that there was little the government could do other than what it now is doing to improve the situation.

Former Representative Mondell reported on a trip which took him into all of the northwestern states and told the president that everywhere he found a steady improvement in the lot of the farmer and stock raiser.

Editor Gazette: Mr. Graves' writing of the 23rd was very good. Why need we pull in experts on the death of the Spokane chief? The saying that "right covers a million of sins" is true, so does money cover a million of grafts for some one's pocket. The one great sorrow is that a good husband and son had to pay the death debt that should have been paid to the boy for the guilty ones. There is no man on the jury but has a family and who would want one of them to pay the terrible death debt that poor Claude had to pay. So, in the eyes of the people who can see and read between the lines we say, "Beware for the same overcomes the son who works in the sun." In will always be a sad thought for a dear old mother and a loving wife. God be with them! To think to their thought and to the people in Janesville, it will be the same.

MONDAY IS NOT ALL.

Editor Gazette:

Might it be that Policeman Stein did not receive proper instructions as to his duties? Had this been done, perhaps the recent unfortunate occurrence might not have happened. Last night another unfortunate was arrested who will call the attention of the Janesville police force to the instructions issued by a certain Mr. Degberry.

Degberry—Well, you are to call at all the ale-houses and bid those that are drunk get them to bed.

Watch—If the boy that went to work at 1 and died at 20 minutes after, will be in the same position as the boy that went to work at 1 and died at 20 minutes after, will be the same.

Dog—Always, then let them alone.

Dog—Why, then, let them alone.

Dog—They are sober; if they make you not then the better answer, you may say they are not the men you took them for.

Watch—Well, sir.

Dog—If you meet a thief, you may suspect him, by virtue of our office, to be no true man; and, for such kind of men, the less you meddle or make with them, why the more is for your honesty.

Watch—If we know him to be a thief, then we will lay hands on him.

Dog—Truly, by your grace, you may, but I think that touch patch will be defined; the most peaceful way for you, if you do take a thief, is to let him show himself what he is and steal out of your company.

Watch—Well, sir.

RANDALL STADIUM NEARS COMPLETION

(By Associated Press.)

Madison—The first tier of seats in Wisconsin's new stadium, at Camp Randall, 28 rows high, has been completed and will be ready for the first game of the season. The structure will seat 30,000 persons for the Homecoming game with Minnesota on Oct. 27, or 6,000 more than any previous game.

Delay has been avoided this season with the result that all of the concrete work is finished with contractors getting the steel in order.

As it now stands the massive concrete structure is in the shape of a horseshoe, consisting of sections with 24 entrances and 24 exits.

The stadium has been built entirely from receipts of football games, with no contributions and no appropriation from the state. The second story tier of seats, settled above the first, is to be commenced next year. When completed the stadium will seat 70,000 persons.

ANOTHER CAR IS MISSING OVER NIGHT.

Another car, the second to be stolen from Court street near the Ironton section of South Main street between 7 and 10 p. m. Wednesday was recovered near the Grant school Friday morning, according to a police report. The machine was parked near the Sheldon Hardware company.

4 ARRESTS MAKE WORK FOR COURT

Lange Presides and Sentences in Absence of Judge Maxfield.

OBITUARY

William Gates, Milton
Milton — William Gates, a resident here for many years, died at Mercy hospital Wednesday.
He was born on the Isle of Man, May 11, 1854, and came here at the age of 22, remaining here a few years and has since made his home in Milton.
No relatives survive in this country. He was unmarried.
Funeral services will be held at the church at 2:30 p.m. Saturday morning, trying and sentencing the prisoners. Mr. Lange was called in as acting judge in the absence of Judge H. L. Maxfield who spent Thursday in Edgerton.

Frank Stark, Beaver Dam, alighted from a train from that city in the afternoon and was picked up 15 minutes afterward by Capt. Peter D. Curran on an intoxication charge. He pleaded guilty when arraigned and was fined $25 and costs, a total of $26, which he paid. He said he didn't know just what he had been drinking.

Bridal Party Driver Pays
Parading a bridal party up and down Wisconsin Avenue in a taxicab Wednesday afternoon at a cost of excess of 15 miles an hour cost Henry Lawrence, cab driver, $24.00, the costs, and his case was held.

On Chief Charles Newman's report that Lawrence has been driving a taxi for a year and has never been known to speed before, Judge Lange said:

"Any taxicab driver who has a record as good as that is worthy of some consideration for there are some of them who speed every day of their lives."

J. A. Bier paid $3.40 because he forgot to stop his car for the arterial stop at Main and Milwaukee streets. Captain Champion also made both these arrests.

Tricks Own Case
On his way home from work at the Chevrolet plant at 5 p.m. Wednesday, Walter Lenz was stopped by Motorcycle Patrolman George Porter and a charge of driving with cut-out open was placed against him when he was arraigned. He was not guilty to the charge. City Attorney George C. Cunningham amended the complaint to charge speeding. Porter declaring the man was going more than 25 miles an hour.

Lentz tried his own case and had as his witnesses, his father, Frank Lentz, D. J. Larson, J. E. Nye, who were in the car with him.

Each testified that Lentz had his cut-out open in the Chevrolet's main road, Industrial avenue, but that he had closed it upon reaching Eastern avenue. They declared he did not travel fast up Jackson street and McKey boulevard, but Judge Lange held the testimony of Patrolman Porter too strong and convicted Lentz of speeding. He was fined $10 and costs, a total of $14.80, he paid.

in the reported romance of Kufahl and Mrs. Schauda. It is said that the action was taken at the request of relatives of Edward Schauda, deceased husband of Mrs. Schauda, whom she confessed she killed by poisoning, March 18, 1922, for her lover.

"Slight improvement has been noted in the condition of Mrs. Schauda who since being placed under arrest Saturday night has been in a serious condition. Sheriff Wylie reported Thursday that she had been given good night's sleep, was well and that she had not cried for two days. She is still very nervous and is under the care of an Elkhorn physician.

Complaint In Ready.
Mrs. Roberts, a sister, now staying at the Schauda home at White-water, assisting in the care of the children, and a visiting widow, Mrs. Schauda, Wednesday, Sheriff Wylie said.

The complaint charging Mrs. Schauda with first degree murder in connection with the death of her husband, reposes on the district attorney's desk. The warrant had not been issued at noon Tuesday.

Mrs. Rose Friedel, Jefferson, sister of Edward Schauda, visited District Attorney Godfrey's office Wednesday and was in conference with him for a few minutes. It was learned at Jefferson that Mrs. Friedel expressed the belief that it would be better for all concerned if Mrs. Schauda were brought back to Elkhorn, on the theory that he might throw some light on the motive back of the death of Edward Schauda and the attempted poisoning of the four children.

Two State Fairs.

The Wisconsin Farmer in making comparisons of the Wisconsin state fair with that of Minnesota finds that Milwaukee has not taken anything like the interest in the state show as does Minneapolis and St. Paul. "The Farmer" says:

The system of county organization back of the Minnesota fair is built to last and furnish security for the big exposition. Each county fair and each breed organization has delegates to the agricultural society convention which governs the state fair. Here we have a board chosen by the governor, and only connected in a haphazard fashion with the existing agricultural forces. If we secure the active aid of any farm organizations here it is by chance rather than design, and it is not a part of the machinery of the fair.

This is one of the difficulties with the present manner of conducting the state fair. It is too much of a summer garden entertainment and not enough for the farmer. The state of Wisconsin needs a great annual fair and exposition. We are to have another exhibition soon in Milwaukee—the Wisconsin Products show. It ought in all sense to be a part of the state fair. The side shows, clean or unclean, the greasy of hamburger stands and the useless things which one may find at any resort close at home, or in one of the carnival shows which are still permitted to exhibit in some Wisconsin towns, are not and should not be a part or parcel of a state fair.

Let us get down to brass tacks. The state of Wisconsin, for the sole purpose of showing what the soil will produce, the dairy and live stock interests and industries breed and produce, and what the manufacturers of the state produce, should have a fair annually at a center no matter what the population may be so long as it is easily accessible. For that purpose the state of Wisconsin should appropriate money to cover the expenses regardless of gate receipts. Every dollar so invested will be returned to the state in improvement of all lines which have made the state prosperous.

But the trouble is that we have attempted to put on such an exhibit and then spent oodles of money trying to conjure something startling to bring the blase Milwaukeeans out to see most anything but what a state fair is designed to present—three-legged horses and dancing girls, fireworks and spectacles and pageantry.

Few and far between are the visitors to the state fair from the northwestern part of the state. These people from Eau Claire and La Crosse and to the west and north of there go to the Minnesota state fair. They ought to be visitors at our own state fair. Milwaukee sends a few of its people out to see the Wisconsin fair, pronounces it insipid and stays at home this year because the manager has cut out the hoochie coochee and the hula hula. To be sure, there is the greatest show of fine dairy cattle in the state, potent for wealth and recking with prosperity, but that does not interest nor intrigue. The reason for the existence of the fair and the reason why the appropriation is made does not interest Milwaukee in the feast.

If we are to have a state fair, let's have a fair and not a honky-tonk show smelling to heaven of hamburger only. Let us have a fair made for the agricultural interests of the state, its dairy and live stock and manufactures and not to be arranged as a bally-hoo to get Milwaukee out to see a show.

Evidence accumulates that the two highest paid persons in the world are the plasterer and the prize fighters.

The Red Test to Come.

The convention of the American Federation of Labor at Portland, Oregon, will be epochal in its consequences. Here will be made the hardest battle of the Red Internationale for the capture of the organized labor forces of the United States so that the body of craft unions may be attached to the Moscow propaganda for the dictatorship of the proletariat. Samuel Gompers on his way to the convention has declared in no uncertain tones against a political move which would mean a third party. With the convention opposing such a move the Farmer-Labor party hopes will go glimmering insofar as being a deciding factor in the election of 1924. Wherever a state convention of the Federation of Labor has been held, the red radicals under the leadership of Foster and his kind, have failed to carry a single point for amalgamation of the unions into a Workers' Party. The crucial test of the Federation will come at Portland.

The fact that there is a line of ships, big and little, flying the British flag, all up and down the Atlantic coast, waiting to violate the prohibition law of the United States, has not added anything to the respect the United States has for Great Britain.

But We Pay the Interest.

The time has arrived once more for the advocates of cancellation of foreign debts to get in a few words. They have been doing this since the 1910s. But they seem to forget that the money owed by the foreign nations is due the people of the United States, not only the interest but the principal. That was the bargain made with the people when the bonds were sold. It makes no difference whether France, Belgium and Italy, Rumania and Greece pay us the principal or the interest or not, we shall pay the in-

PENNSYLVANIA'S POLITICAL POT.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington.—Pennsylvania's political pot is boiling right merrily these days and it is being watched like a veritable witch's cauldron. In which every bubble means trouble—sometimes in double doses. Governor Gifford Pinchot is a candidate for the Republican nomination for President. He has been flirting with destiny ever since he made his successful state list, and now that he has achieved distinction as the man who settled the antiracetrack coal strike it seems that nothing could keep him out of the 1924 contest.

Some states with such an up and coming candidate doubtless would bulge their boundaries with pride and make him a favorite son without delay or debate. Not so with Pennsylvania. Governor Pinchot may get the state delegation to the Republican National Convention or a majority thereof, but notice has already been served that he will not have it handed to him, on a platter.

This notice came in the form of a statement issued by United States Senators Pepper and Reed upon the occasion of their recent visit to the White House to see President Coolidge. This statement might be termed diplomatic or cryptic, or non-committal, or a number of things. It has a sort of "yes, we have no bananas" tone. For when the newspaper correspondents asked the Pennsylvania Senators if they had anything to say to the opening sentence read: "We have no statement to make in regard to the Republican nomination."

Having thus stated that they had no statement to make the Senators proceeded to state: "If it be true, as rumored, that President Coolidge will consent to be a candidate for nomination, and if it also be true, as likewise rumored, that Governor Pinchot has Presidential aspirations, a situation will develop upon which a Senator from Pennsylvania ought not to express himself prematurely, or otherwise than after serious reflection."

That, as the cartoonist would say, and as the politicians are saying, is all very interesting, but it doesn't mean anything! However, if that is to be regarded as cryptic, give heed to the next and concluding sentence evolved by the Keystone State sages:

"What is best for the country, what is best for the state, what is best for the party, are the considerations to which attention must be given, and we have no expectation of making any announcement on the subject in the near future."

And this is so wise that to indulge in the cold-shoulder of the day, it may be said to be the owl's hoot.

Experts at deciphering undecipherable codes and at unscrewing the inextricable have been called in and have made varied interpretations of the Pepper-Reed statement. One says it means that the senators are not for Pinchot to President. Another opines that it indicates that they will support President Coolidge if it should develop speedily that the president's nomination is inevitable. Another contends that it reveals the fact that Senator Pepper is himself a presidential aspirant and warns the stalwarts of the old Penrose machine to be on guard lest Pinchot pilfer the national delegates.

Still another expert whose ratiocination is hitting on every cylinder says that here we have, not a declaration of war, but an overture to compromise and peace. Pinchot, he deduces, is not in reality a candidate for the presidency but for the senate seat now held by Pepper. He will be through with the Governor's job at approximately the same time that Pepper's term expires and he is making his presidential demonstration solely as a preliminary to a fight against Pepper for the senatorial nomination. Pepper is quite aware of this and wants to avoid a contest with Pinchot. Accordingly he and his colleague, who is playing the game with him, issued the statement which means that they are willing to make a deal—or arrive at a gentleman's agreement—whereby they will let Pinchot have all the Pennsylvania delegates to the republican National Convention if the Governor will promise not to make the race for the Senate.

This interpretation of the Pepper-Reed statement sounds more like the work of a real expert, perhaps because it is more complicated and apparently plumbs the very depths of the senatorial minds.

At all events this expert, upon the assurance that he would not be quoted, proceeded from analysis to prophecy and predicted that Pinchot would never agree to any such compromise. The result would be a fight for the national delegates which would continue to a stage where it was evident that the delegation would be split every which way and would cut a sorry figure in the National Convention. Thereupon, sanguine judgments would prevail and an agreement would be reached that Pennsylvania delegates should be uninstructed and left free to scaramble on the Coolidge bandwagon, make a demonstration for Pinchot or do anything else that would enable the state to make a showing in the National Convention commensurate with its block of 78 delegates, the 78 being a gain of two given to Pennsylvania under the proposed new apportionment.

Pennsylvania Republicans who are not ardent supporters of Governor Pinchot cherish very few illusions about the state's being able to capture a republican presidential nomination. The state is as certain under normal conditions to give its electoral vote to the republican nominee that the party is no more likely to name a Pennsylvania candidate than the democrats are to go to one of the states of the "Solid South" for the man to head their ticket. Candidates are chosen as a rule, from close or doubtful states. Pennsylvania has had many favorite sons but has never put one over the big hump.

Nowadays traditions are constantly being shattered and precedents broken; however, and Pinchot's followers insist he is the man who can turn the trick in 1924. They point to his seat in the election of 1920. Wherever a state convention of the Federation of Labor has been held, the red radicals under the leadership of Foster and his kind, have failed to carry a single point for amalgamation of the unions into a Workers' Party. The crucial test of the Federation will come at Portland.

The fact that there is a line of ships, big and little, flying the British flag, all up and down the Atlantic coast, waiting to violate the prohibition law of the United States, has not added anything to the respect the United States has for Great Britain.

The next census should divide the population of the nation into two sections—those riding in cars and those trying to cross the street.

JUST FOLKS

VACATION ACCOMPLISHMENTS

I've been fishin' an' swimmin'
An' I've got a coat of tan,
An' I haven't had a bad or
Since the summer time began.
An' I've learned to row a boat,
An' what we're in the water,
I can do the dead man's boat.
Once I caught a fish that weighed
Half a pound or more.
An' saw a six-foot water snake
A sunfish on the shore.
I've been away all summer,
An' I haven't worn a coat,
An' I swim under water.
I can do the dead man's boat.

I've gathered huckleberries.
Roasted weiners on the beach,
I guess I've grown an inch or two.
An' got a longer reach.
Now we're back again in town.
But I'm not fond of readin'
Or needle work in the throat.
Since I started my vacation.
But I do the dead man's boat.

My nose has started packin'
An' my ears an' neck are brown.
An' I say it's time to study.
Now we're back again in town.
But I'm not fond of readin'
Or the poetry they quote.
I never read a book up there.
But I learned the dead man's boat.

PATHOLOGY OF HOMEWORKS

On the reverse side of the quarterly report cards sent to parents from a rather over crowded high school appears this quaint declaration: "Every student should study from two to three hours at home, outside of regular school hours, each day. Parents should uphold the fact in the home that the pupil is away from school." The regular school hours are about five. If parents take this quaint invitation seriously and "up hold" the faculty it would mean a seven or eight hour "day" for boys and girls in their teens.

Can a normal healthy boy or girl follow any such program five days a week? Is there any physical advantage physically or mentally? I do not think so. I question the wisdom of the school authorities who suggest this program for students.

Well, Well, Mother is right. I am 12 years old. Mother says that it is a chore to swim in the morning, so in swimming in the afternoon, and then take a tub bath at night, I will lose all my skin oil and become very old in looks. Is she right? (C. H.)

Answer—it is a most extraordinary situation, but a family mother may be quite right. A swim is probably enough to keep clean. And days when you go in swimming you scarcely need any bath unless you are nursing a cold.

Don't Avoid Food.

I am nursing a 5 months old baby.

My hands and right shoulder are so sore from the rheumatism that I can't hold the baby. Kindly tell me what foods to avoid in order to rid myself of this. (Mrs. J. P.)

Answer—Don't avoid a cold—take a swim and you will be all right. Your trouble probably has no particular cause, but you are nursing in the way of wholesome or appetizing food while you are nursing the baby.

Horseback Riding.

We are all very interested in all kinds of sports and eager to take up horseback riding, but we have been told it is injurious. Kindly advise us. (The Outdoor Girls Club.)

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1923.

During the busy hours of this day friends start guide men, according to astrology. Uranus and Mars are in heroic aspect. Later, Jupiter is adverse.

All constructive work is subject to the best direction of the stars, today.

Engineers, contractors and builders should benefit greatly.

Under the sway of enterprising and courageous undertakings start.

With Uranus friendly the mental process should be stimulated and all the energies keyed up.

This is a period of preparation in which they are doing the world's work blindly for success, achievements inevitable with the year.

Much discussion of nationalism and of international relations will mark this next three months, it is forecast.

Warlike demonstrations may be expected, for there is an aspect undoubtedly pressuring treachery on the horizon.

The evening of this day is not an auspicious time for entertaining any distinguished person, for Jupiter is adverse.

It is well to avoid seeking advice or support from any prominent person, especially a woman.

Sorcerers are to have much work to do during the winter, when unusual maladies will claim attention.

Uranus gives promise of much activity among mental and spiritual teachers and healers.

There is a sign indicating that aviators will focus attention during the winter, and that nations will confer on limitation of the navies of the air.

If there be any reason for giving credence to astrology, then the United States should concentrate attention on airplanes.

For one's birthday it is well to be wary of speculation during the coming year, when "Save" should be the motto. A busy year with much traveling appearing to be augured.

Children born on this day may be alive on the quivire for novelty and change. Those born in the year of the dragon are abundantly able to win for themselves the good things of life. Girls may be successful.

They usually retain their youth far into middle age.

Increase Earnings

The Railway Age, in an editorial, calls attention to the seeming paradox that the largest increase in the average freight rate and the largest increase in freight business occurred in eastern territory, while the second largest increase in the average freight rate and the largest increase in freight business occurred in the West. The association, of course, has no reduction of the soldiers' bonus bill and a public building measure are passed in line for the chairman of the house ways and means committee, which pauses on all tax matters.

Alumni to Clash With High School Eleven on Saturday

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

RECENTLY the Southern Wisconsin Home Talent Bazaar League held a little banquet up at Fort Atkinson. There were speeches by this manager and their captain. They were talks about how the circuit went through its first season with only one protest and only one meeting. They agreed to not upon longer meetings. As the evening closed, owing to a clause in the Fort Atkinson, vice-president of the tour, made this remark: "I have read the Janesville Gazette very carefully and I must remark upon its very fair writings. I have even tried at times to pick up a word or a phrase or two of them and think of the things I might find some little thing that might indicate certainty. But I must say that never have I read any articles that favored either side, even where the home team was concerned."

JUST BEFORE Otto said these words, Home Talent coaches for Fort Atkinson, he had been in the habit of reading Milwaukee and Chicago newspapers. "Then I would walk along the street," he said, "and someone would ask me if I had read about a certain thing. 'Where did you read it?' I asked. 'In the Gazette.' It is possible that the mentioned "affair" would not have been submitted to the Gazette, I want to say to you folks that we want to back the Gazette. It certainly is our paper and it is boasting all of our towns. The few pennies it costs are well repaid."

AND NOW do you think we republish those statements? That has exactly what the Gazette sports page has been striving to accomplish for three and a half years. For a radius of at least 40 miles, with Janesville as the center, it has been dispensing with Thursday and Friday. Coach Gibson said, and attention given to every sport, and the plan to cover every sport, and the folks in that territory and the family of the Gazette, in truth, make the Gazette's sport page. Just as the paper is printed. Just as the winter told that gathering on that night, he repeats now: No news story of any sporting event of southern Wisconsin will ever be turned down. This is particularly applicable to the amateur. Round the state, it is camp on his trail, he likes it. He is your servant.

Your town! Make it a playground, not a pay ground.

LASKER ASKED FOR WORD ON SHIPPING

Best Way to Handle Problem Is Sought by President Coolidge.

By DAVID L. WRENCE
Copyright 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington.—President Coolidge has asked Albert D. Lasker, former chairman of the United States shipping board, for his advice and judgment as to the best way to handle the shipping problem. The president sent a telegram to Lasker, asking him to come to Washington because of the latter's familiarity with the history of the present system of operation and his close contact with the men who devised it.

Martin Ferry, Oa, is at the head of the list with a percentage of 99. Other cities in this section which have places are: Fond du Lac, 17th; West Allis, 26th; Freeport, Ill., 24th.

Cities are divided into four classes according to enrollment. Seventeen Wisconsin towns are on the entire list of 297.

Can Lease Ships

The opinion of the attorney general's office is that the idea of transferring the title of ownership of the government fleet to the subsidiary corporations, but it revealed that the board did have the right to lease its vessels "on terms satisfactory to the board." This loophole will afford Chairman Farley and the board an opportunity to put into operation their plan of subsidiary companies, just the same, but with the vessels leased to the corporations instead of sold to them.

Mr. Farley is the true author of the plan, having suggested it to Mr. Lasker when he was still chairman of the board, and it was largely through the influence of Farley that President Coolidge approved the policy. The new chairman of the shipping board is warmly supported therefore by his predecessor, who is understood to tell the president why the consolidation of established shipping lines into subsidiary companies would be advantageous to the government and enable it to lease its ships to get more for the ships and the collateral organization than would have been possible through leases or charters on a commission basis to private citizens.

"U. S." Not a Citizen of U. S.

One of the curious places of the attorney general's opinion is his ruling that "the United States" is not a citizen of the United States. The point arose in connection with the proposal to sell the ships to corporations owned by the United States. The law says the vessels may be sold to citizens of the United States only, and the attorney general admits that a transfer of title of sale by the government of its own ships to companies in which it holds all the stock is not a sale to American citizens. This point will be disputed and the attorney general admits it is technical, but nevertheless until it is cleared up there will be considerable doubt as to the powers of the shipping board.

To Allocate Ships

The latest suggestion is that the companies be organized as planned but that the ships be allocated to the companies under leases or charters just as if the leases had been made to outside companies. The board would retain the right to revoke the leases if it wished to dissolve the corporations and would retain control over the officers and directors of the corporations through its right to vote as the majority stockholder. The objection suggested by Mr. Daugherty's opinion that the officers and directors would not be amenable to government discipline would thus be met.

Coolidge on Farley Plan

President Coolidge has told some of his callers that he believed in the Farley plan and wanted to see it put into operation. He did not commend it before the attorney general, however, and his opinion will have to be expressed disappointment now over the snug which the plan has struck.

“The Modesty of Genius”

UNDER the caption, “Janesville, Here’s Our Plan,” Mr. J. E. Croake, President of The Varsity, published in this newspaper an announcement concerning a new order of things in men’s clothing and men’s and women’s shoes, which deserves to rank as a “classic” of commercial literature. Although appearing not in the garb of the conventional advertisement, yet it was the most powerful advertisement we have ever seen.

To us, this advertisement was a masterpiece, not because of its superb physical appearance, or the pure English employed in its construction—but because it fairly reeked with sentiment, idealized commercialism, and practical horse sense; because it promulgated a set of business principles unequaled in the annals of the clothing and shoe industry; because it breathed defiance, almost fierce in its seriousness, to conventional merchandising methods, and sounded a clarion call, loud and clear, for all to rally round the standard of progress. It was a masterpiece, a gem—but altogether too modest. Mr. Croake hides his light under a bushel—the modesty of genius, if you please.

We know that it has always been the idea of Mr. J. E. Croake and his associates Mr. James W. Skelly, Mr. William Brown, Mr. George Sherman, that to attain the highest degree of success their business would have to be built like a skyscraper—“for keeps.”

And when they started in business they put into immediate practice their theory that to build “for keeps” requires strict adherence to the highest quality standards and giving full value; thoroughly dependable merchandise at absolutely minimum prices.

Their business career has been brilliant. They have learned to dot the I’s and cross the T’s of achievement. Because of their energy, enthusiasm, alertness of mind and close attention to little details of business, they have earned a well merited success. They’re still going forward. The path of their progress is clear—right merchandise, right methods, honesty, and an unselfish conception of sincerely courteous service.

You good folks of Janesville and vicinity should encourage such men—men who are achieving such business success, built on lines of such high idealism—on personal service—on reliable merchandise and with a vision which dignifies the commerce of Janesville.

J. E. Croake and his associates at The Varsity have done well. We are proud to call them our friends. They deserve and have our good will and confidence.
